Report of Public Schools.

December 14 closed three months of our school term.

All schools were dismissed Friday for a two week's holiday, commencing January 7, 1901.

The attendance has steadily increased from the first, averaging 52 a month, rendering it necessary to secure additional rooms and teachers.

The Greggan College building was rented and two additional teachers employed.

This gave ample room, with the exception of the first and second primary rooms, which were relieved by adopting the half-day session, a plan regularly followed in many large cities and well recommended. There being from 70 to 80 pupils in each primary, patrons can readily see the necessity of this arrangement.

Thus far classes no higher than the eighth grade have been organized but numerous applications for higher work having been received, we have decided to adopt a high school course and organize the first year's work immediately upon our re-commencing Jan. 7. Pupils who desire to enter this work should present themselves for classification as soon as possible after the opening.

Tuition for non-resident pupils in the eighth grade and high school is $2.00 per month, payable in advance.

Patrons are again urged to get the children in on time. The record of tardiness is appalling and can be accounted for in no way unless it be the indifference of the parents. Habits of punctuality should be inculcated in every child, and should be as much a point of his education as his three R's.

Patrons are invited to visit the schools and co-operate with the teachers in making our schools second to none.

Respectfully, W. A. DIZELL, Supt.

Report for third month, ending Dec. 14, 1900: Total enrollment to date, boys, 254, girls, 240, total 494. Number of new names this month, boys, 29, girls, 24, total 53. The value of a newspaper advertisement is measured by the number of papers printed and circulated. And in a newspaper that prints 600 copies and it is worth just twice as much as in one that prints 300 copies and it is worth just seven times more in a paper that prints 2,100 copies as in that prints 300 copies.
